

PAPER because

all this social media might be making us less social.

Today's kids think they are aware of everything: friends' status, pictures, and location. Everything except what's happening right in front of them. Learn more at PAPERbecause.com.

